

Francis Wallace is an accomplished musician and has provided Bagpiper services to many of our families when requested. Francis has always been available, and present, in the most inclement weather, to provide the music selections where and when a family desires, helping them arrange a service that is meaningful to them during their time of loss.

The bagpipe adds a dignified touch to the funeral ceremony, whether it is at church, funeral home or graveside. Francis Wallac will accommodate the families request and provide an exceptional service. I would highly recommend him to anyone interested in retaining the services of an excellent bagpiper.

Funeral services are as unique and personal as the individual who has passed and family that they are honoring. Over many years Evans Funeral Chapel & Cremation Services - Bel Air has been able to offer a bagpiper at funerals, thanks to Francis Wallace. Francis is dedicated to providing dignity and personalization at funeral services. Mr. Wallace is a trusted and talented bagpiper that tailors the selections that he plays to reflect the life that has been lived. Mr. Wallace is always dressed in traditional Celtic attire, and is willing to play at the funeral chapel and at the cemetery for families. We truly value the relationship our funeral chapel has with Mr. Wallace, and the ability to better serve our families with his assistance.

Bagpipe music has been a request by many families during the loss of a loved one. There is something about the traditional sound of the pipes being played during the funeral ceremony. For some time now, Francis Wallace has been providing quality, flexible service to our client families. Whether it has been at the graveside, church or at one of our funeral homes, Francis has offered a wide range of selections to help make the service meaningful. Regardless of the request, Frrancis has worked with the families to cater his service to their needs.
